More and more Bay Area homeowners are turning to California native plants to save water and make their gardens aesthetically pleasing, attractive to birds and butterflies, and low maintenance. You can visit gardens landscaped with California native plants on this free annual tour.

Many different gardens will be open for viewing, from town home gardens to acre lots, from newly planted gardens to established ones. The gardens are located all over the Santa Clara Valley and the Peninsula, so you won't have to go far to see one. Some gardens will feature talks, others will have plants for sale. Visit as many as you like — for inspiration, for photos, for meeting other garden enthusiasts.

Free admission • Registration required at www.GoingNativeGardenTour.org

Garden information, maps, and directions will be emailed to registrants the week of April 1. Web registrations will be accepted until noon of April 17 or until the tour reaches capacity. For information, visit www.GoingNativeGardenTour.org, or email info@GoingNativeGardenTour.org.
